Billing Cycle of PlayOnline

Q: How often does PlayOnline charge my credit card for fee-based services?

A: Once a month, at the beginning of each calendar month. An exception applies when you have an overdue fee. Any overdue fees will immediately be charged and billed to your credit card.

Q: Will I see separate charges on my credit card statement for each Content ID or fee-based service to which I subscribe?

A: No. You will only see one charge on your statement. This charge may include Content ID fees for the month just started, the fees for Content IDs purchased and reactivated in the previous month and the fees for Content IDs carried over from a free trial period.

Q: Is there any way to find how much I will be charged on the next credit card bill?

A: Yes. There will be a pop-up message displayed for several days at the beginning of each month when you log in to PlayOnline. Follow the instructions in the message to find out how much your bill will be on the next statement.

Billing Period Immediately After the End of Free Trial Period

Q: How did I get charged for Content ID fees immediately after a free trial period?

A: Content ID fees for a fee-based service will be due upon completion of its thirty-day free trial period. The fees are due for the period from the first day after the end of the free trial period through the remainder of the month following the free trial period. Full monthly fees will be prorated based on the number of days remaining in the month and will be charged to your credit card in the following month.

Q: How will my fees be affected if I purchase, cancel, or reactivate my Content IDs after the end of a free trial period but within the same month?

A: All Content IDs of fee-based services that are active after the free trial period will be subject to the prorated fees described in the previous answer, regardless of the number of days they remain active in this period.

Q: What should I expect if I continue to use Content IDs for a fee-based service after the end of the month in which a free trial period ends?

A: You will see a charge from PlayOnline on your credit card statement that will include the fees for Content IDs that have been carried over from the free trial period and the fees for Content IDs for the month that has just started.

PlayOnline offers various tools to help answer your questions about fees and billings as well as other useful information about its features and games, mainly from the Service & Support section of the PlayOnline main menu. Please take a moment to familiarize yourself with these tools before contacting the PlayOnline Information Center. ## FINAL FANTASY® XI FAQ

Q: What are Worlds?

A: FINAL FANTASY XI is a massively multiplayer online game. To ensure that the maximum number of players can enjoy the game, many identical Vana'diels or "Worlds" have been created on different servers. When you create your first character, it will automatically be assigned to one of these Worlds. The name of the World in which your character is playing will appear in the log window every time you log into the game.

Q: What are World Passes?

A: A World Pass allows you to invite your friends to create characters in your World. World Passes take the form of a ten-digit number and can be purchased from certain NPCs in Vana'diel. When creating a character, enter the name of the World and the World Pass to create a character in that World. World Passes expire after seven days and can be used up to five times.

Q: What are Mog Houses?

A: Each city has a residential area (marked on the city maps) containing the personal Mog House of each player character. When you enter your Mog House for the first time, your own personal moogle will explain the features of the Mog House, including Change Jobs (changing to a different job), Mog Safe (item storage), Delivery Box (for sending items and gil to other players), Gardening (raising plants for valuables), Layout (arranging furniture and decorations), and more.

Q: What are Auction Houses?

A: Each town has an auction house where you can bid on items put on auction by other players or sell items yourself. The first player to enter a price higher than the reserve price set by the seller purchases the item from the seller. Bidders cannot see the reserve prices set by the seller, but can select "Price History" to show recent transactions involving the item.

Q: How do I equip something?

A: Select "Equipment" from the main menu to display your character's equipment slots. Select a slot such as "Main Weapon," "Head," or "Body" and press the confirm button. The cursor will move to the equipment list where names of items that can be equipped will be highlighted. Select a piece of equipment to place it in the corresponding equipment slot.

Q: How do I form a party?

A: If you wish to be invited to a party, select "Party" from the main menu, then select "Seek Party." An icon will appear next to your name. If you wish to invite other players to your party, you can either select "Party" then "Find Member" to search for available players, or simply target another player who is displaying the icon and select "Invite." The invited player can accept or decline the offer. If he or she selects "Join," the character will join your party. A party can contain up to six members. In a party, experience points and gil are distributed to all party members within attack range.

Q: How do I change my chat mode?

A: Chat modes include "/say," "/tell," "/party," and others. To change your chat mode, target yourself and press the confirm button. Highlight the "Chat" command in the action command menu and press the right arrow key for a selection of chat modes.

Q: How do I invite another player to join my Friend List?

A: In the log window, type "/befriend" followed by the name of the player character. Once the other player selects "Accept & Add," the name of the player character will appear on your Friend List.

Q: What are Linkshells?

A: Linkshells are communication tools. By using items called "Linkpearls," a large group of friends can communicate with each other regardless of each member's location. Linkshells are available as items, called "new linkshells," at certain shops. Purchase one to get started.
